

Title of the Manuscript must clearly and concisely convey the paper's focus.

Written in English or French, the title must not be more than 12 words with no abbreviations

Abstract

The abstract is a high-level overview or summary (200 words maximum) that highlights the research problem, methods, key findings and significance. Manuscripts must be submitted on 8.5x11" (letter size) paper, double spaced.

Keywords: 4-6 keywords for your article, listed alphabetically, and separated by a comma

Résumé

Le résumé est un aperçu ou une synthèse de haut niveau (200 mots maximum) qui met en évidence le problème de la recherche, les méthodes, les principaux résultats et l'importance de la recherche. Les manuscrits doivent être soumis sur du papier 8.5x11" (format lettre), en double interligne.

Mots-clés : 4-6 mots-clés pour votre article, classés par ordre alphabétique et séparés par une virgule

Introduction

Background

Provides context by introducing the research area and its relevance.

Problem Statement

Clearly articulates the research gap or question that the study aims to address.

Objectives/Aims/Hypotheses

Outlines the specific goals of the research and, if applicable, the predicted outcomes.

Literature Review

Briefly summarizes relevant existing research to establish the study's context and justify its contribution.

Methodology

Study Design

Details the research approach (e.g., experimental, observational, qualitative).

Participants/Subjects

Describes the characteristics of the individuals or materials used in the study.

Materials/Instruments

Explains the tools and resources employed in data collection.

Procedures

Provides a step-by-step account of how the study was conducted, ensuring reproducibility.

Data Analysis

Explains the methods used to analyze the collected data.

Results

Presentation of Findings

Presents the study's findings in a clear and objective manner, often using tables, figures, and summaries.

Answer to Research Question

Directly addresses the research questions based on the presented results.

Discussion

Interpretation of Results

Explains the meaning and implications of the findings, relating them back to the literature review and research question.

Strengths and Limitations

Acknowledges the study's strengths and potential weaknesses.

Future Research Implications

Suggests potential directions for further investigation based on the current findings.

Conclusion

Summary of Key Findings

Briefly restates the main results and their significance.

Concluding Statement

Provides a final statement that summarizes the study's contribution and its implications.

Acknowledgement of AI Use

A statement acknowledging any AI use in writing the article. The AI tool used should be named and the purpose for using that AI tool clearly explained.
